FRIENDS BELIEVE SIMS IS INNOCENT

BRAZIL PERSONS THINK POPULAR BLACKSMITH WILL HAVE LITTLE TROUBLE IN PROVING HIS INNOCENCE.

NOW IS LOCKED IN JAIL

The story of the arrest of Jesse "Casey" Sims, the well known blacksmith, of this city Saturday by the sheriff of Putnam county on a charge of the murder of W. O. Hendren, caused a great deal of talk in this city. Sims is well known and popular with a big following of young men of this city, is a member of the Eagles lodge and has a host of "Friends" who believe that he will be able to clear himself of the charge without any trouble. It is hard for them to believe that the good natured "Casey" would take the life of a man. Evidently, however, the grand jury had considerable convicting evidence. Sims was in Greencastle on the night of the murder but asserts that he has proven and can prove again that he returned on an early car and was in this city before the time of the murder.—Brazil Times.

POULTRY RAISERS TALK OVER SHOW.

Some dozen interested poultry raisers of the city and county met in the court house on Saturday afternoon and talked over the possibilities of a poultry show for Greencastle and Putnam county. All the surrounding cities, Brazil, Martinsville, Crawfordsville, have shows and they are features of the winter bringing good crowds to town. There appeared to be no reason why such a show could not be held in Greencastle except the general lack of interest in anything of the kind as manifested by Greencastle business men. It was decided to consider the matter further and to make some attempt to have a show.

JOHNSON HAS SMALL CROWD.

Rev. D. B. Johnson, who came to this city Saturday in the interests of the Civic Union of Indiana, addressed an audience of about twenty-five men at the First Methodist church Sunday afternoon. He explained his plan for federating the Civic Leagues of the state for the campaign against all kinds of evil and those present were convinced that the idea is a good one. Owing to the defective condition of our own Civic League it is not likely however, that any definite action will be taken here at the present. Mr. Johnson is a forceful and enthusiastic speaker.—Crawfordsville Journal.

THE COURT BEGINS 2ND JURY TRIAL

CASE OF WM. McNARY AGAINST THE TERRE HAUTE, INDIANAPOLIS & EASTERN TRACTION COMPANY.

OTHER COURT BUSINESS

The jury was in the box Tuesday morning and the second case to come before a jury during the present term of the circuit court was begun. It is the case of Wm. McNary against the Traction Company seeking damages for a horse alleged killed by the traction company's cars. The horse crossed the cattle guard and entered upon the company's right-of-way, it is alleged, and was killed. The plaintiff asks damages equal to the alleged value of the animal $150.

The court made an order that all original papers in the hands of attorneys should be returned and placed in the files by Wednesday morning. The court has been greatly annoyed lately by being unable to find papers in several suits when wanted, and it is announced that the court rule forbidding the

TRACTION MEN HAVE HOT TIME

SEELYVILLE DRUNKS NEARLY PUT CONDUCTOR OUT OF BUSINESS.

SMITH CAME BACK THOUGH

Conductors on the local traction line have plenty of excitement on the west bound as is shown by the following from the Brazil Daily Times:

More wild and woolly west scenes were enacted on the interurban cars last evening and the conductors were kept busy dodging blows and keeping out of fights.

LeMay and his wife boarded the car at Seelyville. LeMay was late in reaching the car and his wife told Conductor Smith to wait for her husband who was sick and could not hurry much. Smith urged him to hurry which angered the woman. All the way from Seelyville to this town the woman urged the man to assault the conductor according to the word of others in the car and when the car reached the station LeMay attempted to carry out this plan. With a stiff blow on Smith's jaw the conductor went through the rear vestibule of his car. Smith seemed dazed for a moment, but rallied and struck LeMay who is a much bigger man, several ferocious blows in the face almost in an instant. LeMay was knocked senseless. Smith jumped from the car and led him into the traction station. LeMay bled fearfully. Mr. Smith sought to have Officer Newton arrest LeMay for assault, but he was taken to Dr. Rawley's office and found to be in such a condition from an old injury that he could not lie in jail over night.

Dave Foster was ejected from the west bound 6:28 interurban car at Ball's Crossing last evening by the conductor. Foster, it is reported was intoxicated and was hanging on the rear step of the car. He refused to get off when some women wanted to alight and the conductor was forced to throw him off the car. Foster reached his hand for his hip pocket, but the conductor withdrew and closed the door and started the car. Foster lay in the road, it is said, for some time and the police hired a cab and went to look for him later but were unable to find him.

MAUD POWELL

Greencastle is anticipating with lively interest the appearance in concert of Maud Powell, the most distinguished of American musicians, and the only woman violinist of the world, who ranks among the great artists this evening in Meharry Hall at 8 o'clock. Here is an interpretative genius that interposes nothing of self between the composer and the audience, but rather conveys the musical message with a masterly eloquence. Whatever difficulties of technique are overcome while the musical story is being told, none but the expert violinist thoroughly realizes as a sufficient technique is "merely the means to the end." Her unaffected simplicity is one of the charms of her interpretations.

Mme. Powell will be assisted by Waldemar Liachowsky, the German pianist. Prices 50 and 75 cents. Seats on sale at Langdon's until 6 o'clock when the plat will be removed to East College. (Adv.)

WEATHER HARD ON WHEAT.

Farmers in town during the past few days have been unanimous in the opinion that the weather of the past week has been hard on wheat. The snow has largely melted off, leaving only a little upon the ground which melts during the day and runs into the little furrow left by the drill. At night this freezes into ice and remains as an icy covering round the roots of the wheat. This alternate freezing and thawing with the ice round the plant it is claimed, is doing much damage.

PLAYING THE GAME.

Every now and then happenings in our courts bring home forcibly the fact that law has lost sight of its main end, justice, and is nothing but a game in which the shrewd delight and in which justice is but a memory. The latest example of this is in a suit of a laborer injured upon the Indiana Southern Railroad. The complaint had been led, and a demurrer by the defendants attorney. The judge ruled the complaint was void because in speaking of the receiver he had been named as "Receiver for the Indiana Southern," instead of "Receiver of" that road. There was no contention as to the fact that the man was receiver, that the plaintiff had been injured, that the road was careless. There was no question of the essential points of the case. The whole thing was thrown out because of the changed prepositions. It was playing the game. Could the attorney for the plaintiff write a complaint that the attorney for the defendant could not find faulty. Upon the technicalities the whole matter hinged. And so, whether the road be guilty or not guilty of carelessness, the injured man must make his move in the game under the rules called law. It would be well indeed, as President Taft has so often pointed out, if these technicalities could be pushed aside, and justice brought back as the end and aim of law. In the mean time our courts are yearly losing more of the confidence of the people as sources of justice and right.

Farmer Thoughtful of Clerk.

An amusing incident occurred in a hotel a few nights ago. It appears that a farmer from South Jersey, who was unusually ignorant of city ways, went to the hotel with his son. The father retired early, but the son went out to "see the town." At 12:30 o'clock the farmer went down stairs and inquired of the night clerk if the boy had retired yet. He was told that he had not. The father went back to his room. An hour later he again appeared before the clerk and said:

"Hain't Jack in yet?"

Again he was informed that the lad was out. The old man made several subsequent trips, and still his boy was among the missing. Finally at 3:30 o'clock the farmer trudged wearily down the stairs and asked again if his boy had returned.

"No, he's not in yet," replied the night clerk.

"Waal, I guess he won't come in, then. Guess you needn't wait up any longer."

UNKIND.

Miss Cutting Hintz—Why don't you get up and read what you've written?

Not That Kind of a Man.

At a banquet of the Farmers' Union at Shawnee, Okla., a satirical speech by Irwin S. Mason, of the Shawnee stock farm was well received.

"Enough, then,"—so Mr. Mason ended—"enough of this lying talk of the farmer's meanness and hardness and narrowness—this talk that makes the farmer out to be the kind of a man who'd complain if his wife eloped in the spring with the hired man, that he wouldn't have cared so much if she had only eloped in the fall instead, so that he'd have been spared the expense of wintering her."

EXTENSIVE INCOME TAX.

Bears Most Heavily Upon Man of Average Income.

An effort made recently by several enterprising members of Parliament to induce the House of Commons to pass a graduated income tax failed.

It is held that the present uniform income tax, which is levied upon all incomes above $800 a year, is unscientific, because its burden is unequal. The present tax of thirteen pence on each pound of income, approximating twenty-six cents on each $5 of income.

All persons earning under $800 a year are exempt. This exemption relieves the masses of the people from income tax. The effort now is to obtain a scientifically graded tax. Mr. Channing, M.P., wants to amend the law so that incomes exceeding $800 and not exceeding $1,000 shall be taxed at the rate of four cents on each $5; incomes above $1,000 and below $2,000 eight cents, and incomes between $4,000 and $5,000 twenty cents.

Mr. Lewis, M.P., also wants a graduated income tax, while Mr. Trevelyan, M.P., favors a graduated tax that will compel the rich to pay in proportion to their wealth. Mr. Trevelyan believes every person with an income exceeding $25,000 shall pay, in addition to the present tax of twenty-six cents on each $5, two cents on each $5 of income above $25,000 and up to $50,000, and four cents on each $5 of income above $50,000.

Under the law as at present administered the income tax bears more heavily upon the man of average income than upon the very wealthy. Nobody living in England can evade the income tax, whether Englishmen or foreigners. Even the London correspondents of American newspapers are not exempt and have to pay income tax at the same rate as William Waldorf Astor, although their incomes in many cases are not quite as large.—N.Y. Journal.

GUARDING AGAINST FLOODS.

Warning Given Twenty-Eight Days In Advance.

One of the most remarkable cases of flood prediction on record was the warning of the disastrous floods of 1903. Twenty-eight days in advance of its coming the forecaster at Washington announced the exact time when the crest of a flood would reach New Orleans, and said that the height of the flood would be twenty-one feet. Punctually to the hour the flood came, and its crest was 20 feet and 7 inches, only five inches less than the height predicted. The immense ocean of water had started one thousand miles away. It had dropped from the skies over a territory six times larger than the State of New York (over 200,000 square miles); but the weather man knew its rate of march as surely as the engineer, with his eye on the indicator, knows the speed of his locomotive. Thousands of men were set to work to raise and strengthen the levees and embankments, to clear the wharves and river banks, to remove women and children, to drive the cattle to places of safety. When the flood arrived the people were ready for it. Comparatively few lives were lost, and the damage to property, while terrible, was millions and millions of dollars less than it would have been if the people had had no sentinel to cry out the march of the waters.—Century.

Standard Oil in Roumania.

Charles Wood, Bert Graham, C. E. Dettler, Joseph McCastle, and two other Muncie oil workers recently signed contracts to go to Roumania in the employ of the Standard Oil Company, where the Standard has come into virtual control of the immense Roumanian field. One stipulation in their agreement with the Standard is that on finishing their day's work the men shall don evening clothes because, it is set forth, there are but two classes of people in Roumania—the peasants and the rich—and the Standard desires to keep up its prestige by having its employees well dressed.—Indianapolis News.

Royalty's Many Residences.

The Czar of Russia and the Emperor of Germany might, if they please, dispute with each other as to which of the two owns the greater number of palaces. Each might sleep in a different house every night for a month and not exhaust the number of his various dwelling-places. The Czar is said to own many country seats—which are kept up in every detail, furnished and furnished and crowded with servants—into which he has never set foot. King Edward of England, while regularly occupying only four has a dozen or more houses which are ready for him at all times.—Chicago Journal.

Locomotives as Fog-Makers.

An engineer asserts that the London fogs are caused largely by the discharge of steam into the air from the 300 or more locomotives operating in London area. One steam plant of 2,000 horse-power, the engineer figures, will discharge into the air twenty tons of steam per hour, or sufficient to produce a fog twenty feet thick and one mile square; and what plants with a capacity of 65,000 horse-power can do in the way of fog production may, therefore, be easily estimated. The proposed remedy is to convert this waste steam into electric power.—Railway Age.

Wrongly Labeled.

George C. Bond said at a luncheon in New York:

"Americans can no longer be said to judge a wine by its label. I doubt if that charge was ever true, and certainly it hasn't one iota of truth in it today.

"But a lot of foreigners, falling here, try in their disappointment and rage to impute to the American business man a wine ignorance equal to that of the German innkeeper.

"To a German innkeeper, you know, a guest once said:

"Look here, I ordered Jontet Canet, and you've brought me a bottle labelled Medol."

"Ach," said the innkeeper, disgusted—"Vat a stooped donkey dot Fritz is. I distinctly told him to put a Postet Carnet label on."

CALIFORNIA FRUIT ROT.

Disease Baffles Plant Doctors—Government to Assist.

A dreadful plant disease has arisen to trouble California fruit growers, and Professor R. E. Smith, assistant professor in plant pathology, has been asked to cure the ill. He has announced that the Government at Washington would co-operate with the Agriculture College here in an attempt to wipe out the lemon brown rot, a disease which is threatening the destruction of the entire lemon growing industry of California.

The brown rot in lemons constitutes a new problem for plant pathologists, its character differing radically from any fungus or parasitic growth known to those who make the expert study of such diseases a specialty. Its effects thus far have been to partly paralyze the lemon growing business, nearly 50 per cent of the crop last year having been spoiled by the brown rot. The disease spreads a brown mold on the surface of the fruit, which eventually shrivels the lemon, making it unfit for use.

Three years ago the first sign of the brown rot appeared in the lemon orchards of Southern California. It spread and attacked nearly every orchard in the State. It is a pest not known in other countries.

Professor Smith and his assistants have four plant diseases to which they are devoting especial attention these being the walnut blight, which is receiving study at the hands of A. M. West, Government expert, at Whittier, in Southern California; pear blight, lemon brown rot and sweet potato blight. The Legislature has appropriated $30,000 for this purpose.

NEGROES AS FIGHTERS.

Many Champions, but No Winner of World's Heavyweight Title.

Whatever may be the final decision on the color line in pugilism—the fact remains that no negro heavyweight ever held the championship of the world. Probably the only fighter of his race who came near to such a distinction was Peter Jackson. But John L. Sullivan, who then wore the crown, blocked Jackson's ambition by refusing to give him a battle. There have been instances where colored scrappers have fought for the championship of England. This happened many years ago, though. Of late whatever glories the negro has attained in the prize ring, were won in America.

Among the smaller brigade the negroes may be said to have been very conspicuous. Three have held the world's title at their various weights. George Dixon was the bantam and featherweight champion of the world for nearly ten years, and only relinquished his laurels to Terry McGovern when it was evident that the noted negro was on the decline. Joe Gans, has been on top for a number of years and Joe Walcott has never been directly beaten for his belt of welterweight champion. Walcott may now be considered out of the hunt because of an injury to one of his hands, which he received in a shooting scrape about a year ago. Walcott had ambitions to become the heavyweight leader. He tried his skill against Joe Choynski as a starter and triumphed, knocking the Hebrew out in a short fight. Walcott felt very proud of his feat and some facetious sporting writer dubbed him "Joe the Giant Killer."—N. Y. Times.

Laziness in Holland.

The man who is too lazy to work keeps out of Holland if he is wise, or makes his escape as soon as he discovers that there at least a means has been found to make him work. When a prisoner or pauper refuses to work he is lowered into a dlatern, which is provided with a pump at the bottom. A stream of water is turned on and the idler is left to his own devices. The capacity of the pump is but slightly in excess of the stream flowing into the tank, and to keep his head above water he must keep pumping.

As a rule, he spends some little time before he finds that the water is slowly creeping upon him. He is not urged to go to work, but presently he takes his place at the handle and begins the task. By working quickly he is able to clear out the water after a short time, but he has to keep at work if he wishes to keep dry feet. There have been occasions when a stubborn offender has refused to pump and has quietly floated upon the water until fished out by the keeper, but this simply doubles his task, and he is not taken from the water until he is able to keep afloat no longer.

Fate of Men Who Shot a Spy.
"While with the British army in South Africa," said Major Barchard, an attaché of the British Consulate, "I was allotted on one occasion the stern task of commanding a firing party of ten men who executed a Boer officer who had broken his parole and afterward was condemned as a spy. He had assumed the uniform of an English soldier and penetrated our lines after having levanted when on his parole.

"Every member of that firing party has come to fatal or serious grief since that Friday morning when in the gray dawn we shot the spy. Sudden death or a bad accident has befallen each one.

"My turn has come, as you see," And the soldier who had fought in a half-dozen campaigns pointed to his left arm, which was in splints, having been fractured in a street car accident.

DePAUW UNIVERSITY NOTES

ENDOWMENT WORK SHOWING SUBSTANTIAL RESULTS

DR. C. U. WADE IN CHARGE OF THE WORK IN THE FIELD IS OPTIMISTIC OF THE OUTCOME.

NEED STILL ANOTHER WORKER

Although nothing startling has happened in the endowment fight within the past few days, things are reported nevertheless to be advancing very satisfactorily. When asked about the work yesterday, Dr. Town had little to say.

"I have nothing new to report except that everything is moving along encouragingly for us.

Dr. C. U. Wade, who has the work in charge, was in the city Saturday and Sunday, but left again for the field yesterday. In speaking of his work since he has been in charge Dr. Town said:

"If Dr. Wade's work keeps on like it has been in the past he will certainly make a splendid record for himself."

Mr. Meyers has likewise been doing very well in the North Indiana Conference, and with Rev. Shoemaker just entering the fight in the Northwest Conference, things begin to look bright. Dr. Town is still on the lookout for a man to take up the campaign in Indiana Conference and will probably locate someone within the next few weeks.

DePAUW WON 29 YEARS AGO.

"Star" Resurrects Picture and the Story of Early Oratorical Wins.

The Indianapolis Star last Sunday published a picture of the Interstate Oratorical Association of 1881 and accompanied it with the following article of interest to DePauw people.

"When Charles F. Coffin of Indianapolis won the interstate oratorical contest at Jacksonville, Ill., in 1881, Judge Oscar H. Montgomery of the Indiana Supreme Court, then a student at Hanover College, was president of the association and William J. Bryan, three times a candidate for the presidency, then a student at Illinois College, was vice president. Mr. Coffin won the first prize as the representative of Indiana and DePauw, then Asbury University. His subject was 'The Philosophy of Skepticism.' Owen Morris representing Minnesota, won second prize and Winnie Bronson, of Upper Iowa, the only woman who contested, won third prize. Since Mr. Coffin's victory DePauw has won many contests.

Mr. Coffin is now president and general counsel for the Indianapolis, Greenwood & Franklin Railroad Co., with his office in Indianapolis and Vice Pres. State Life Association. He graduated with the class of '81. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Recovery Still Slow.

Marion Hedges was reported yesterday to be slowly improving. There has been no marked change in his condition in the last few days; yet he is gradually gaining strength, and hopes to be out in a short time.

The Beta's, having little chance of winning the group series, are unwilling to debate at all.

The matter of the dedication of the book was carried over to the next meeting. The entire Junior class will be asked to vote on the question.

Managing Editor Eldie Troxell announced that certain parts of the book would be ready for the publisher by the middle of January.

Mr. Notes of the Indianapolis Engraving Company was present. He offered some valuable suggestion and submitted samples of his company's work for the consideration of the staff.
